DuraVent to Present Educational Information During National Chimney Sweep Guild 2018 National Convention and Trade Show

Industry veteran Brian Barclay will share residential venting best practices during the four-day event

DETROIT, Mich., April 3, 2018 – To keep chimney and venting professionals up-to-date on the array of venting solutions available today, DuraVent's National Account Sales Director Brian Barclay will present during the 2018 National Chimney Sweep Guild National Convention and Trade Show, April 18 – 21, 2018 in Portland, Ore.

With more than 20 years of experience in residential venting, Barclay will share venting best practices during his educational breakout session, "The Right Venting Solution for the Job", at 8:30 a.m., Saturday, April 21. While there are many unique flue types, ranging from plastic to AL29-4C and each possessing beneficial properties and listings, this session will arm attendees with the information they need to install the safest and best-performing venting pipe. Barclay will explain why a wide range of materials are used and share which type of pipe should be used for chimneys and appliances requiring venting.

The National Chimney Sweep Guild is a 501 (c) (6) non-profit trade association existing to promote the success of its members by providing progressive services, encouraging professionalism and ethical accountability, and advancing the chimney and venting industry through public awareness of the trade. Attendees of the National Chimney Sweep Guild 2018 National Convention and Trade Show will have access to more than 30 hours of business and technical breakout sessions; more than 80 exhibiting companies; non-stop networking opportunities; and much more.
